The People's Column

The question is frequently asked why men receive better wages than women for doing the same kind of work. On the surface it seems unfair that this condition should exist. But there are certain economic reasons that are responsible for this condition, just as there are for all other conditions that may seem strange. The chief reason that men get better pay is that when they accept employment they expect it to be permanent, and work with this in view. On the contrary women as a rule are working only temporarily. Sooner or later they expect to get married or quit work as soon as they have saved up ample competence. The mobility of female labor tends to keep down the salaries of women and girls as an employer often loses on his employees the first few weeks or months. It often costs more to teach them than they produce. Another reason for the prevailing condition is that men are stronger than women physically and can endure more hardships that might arise in busy times. Again, the man is looked upon as the head of the house and the bread-winner and the psychology of this fact boosts his salary. These economic reasons cause men to receive better salaries and wages than women for the same kind of work.

10,000 Feeder Calves Are Put Through Pool

(By Associated Press). COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 22.—Ten thousand head of choice feeder calves from the Highland section of West Texas are reported by C. B. Denman, president of the National Live Stock Producers association, to have gone through the feeder calf pool of the association to the feed lots of the corn belt to be finished on corn belt feeds.

Denman also reports that more than 100,000 feeder lambs have passed through this pool to be finished for market.

A. B. Conner, acting director of the Texas Experiment Station, thousands of head of feeder calves and lambs are sent out of Texas each year to be fattened and finished for market, when they could and should have been finished in Texas in view of the state's almost unlimited supply of grain sorghums, cotton seed products and alfalfa and sorghum hay.

The Leningrad Academy of Science sent Professor Kokowec, the famous Russian scholar of Hebrew and Oriental languages, to examine the find.

Wit, Humor, Jokes, Music and Menu

Reader Says All Men Are Prevaricators

Feature Methodist Men's Meeting

"Oh, what a tangle web we weave, when first we undertake to deceive," said the poet. The truth of this quotation was proved last night at the Methodist Men's Brotherhood meeting by a sparkling reading in light vein by Miss Ruth Watkins of A. and M. College entitled: "All Men Are Liars." She stated that when a man was young and in his courting days he always told his girl that she was the only co-ed he ever tried to kiss. When he gets married and has to sing, "Show Me the Way to Go Home," he tells his wife that he is coming in late because he has been out to see a sick friend. And then when he gets old, Grand Pa tells his grandson who sits on his knee that he "never told a lie," and for the little boy to follow his example. Miss Watkins gave another reading that brought down the house, entitled: "Betty at the Baseball Game."

W. L. Pendarthy of Ohio State, who is director of intramural athletics at A. and M., charmed the large audience by his singing and guitar playing. His billboard song was especially good, and each number was encored to the echo.

Albert Prindle of Marlin was called upon, and responded with several unusually funny jokes. His best one was about the late Bob Ingersoll's account of Robert Burns, the Scotch poet. He said that after the great Ingersoll had finished his witty address, a Scotchman went up to him and said: "That was a wonderful speech. When you die they should write upon your tombstone: Robert Burns."

"Rip" Erskine, chairman of the entertainment committee, acted as toastmaster during the program. Dr. John W. Black, president of the organization, presided over the meeting. Ty Cobb was introduced to the brotherhood, who responded with a brief talk, telling of his delight over being in Bryan.

Eight Drafted Singers. Toastmaster Erskine drafted eight prominent members of the club, and made them sing in double quartettes. He said that "this is a double quartette, the like of which you have never seen before." The singers acquitted themselves nobly, the voice and acting of Professor Madison Hall standing out above the others.

Before the program opened a short business meeting was conducted.

Toastmaster Erskine led in the singing of a number of songs, among them being "Peggy O'Neill" and "My Beautiful Ohio."

The ladies of the church served a delicious menu, which seemed to make a hit with members. The entire meeting was characterized by pep and punch and it was pronounced one of the most successful of the year.

MA'S GASOLINE TAX OPPOSED BY SUPT. MARRS

(Associated Press). AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—S. M. N. Marrs, Superintendent of Public Instruction, charged in a statement today that Governor Ferguson's message to the legislature in regard to the proposed 3-cent gasoline tax for school revenue was misleading. He declared that the revenue would not be sufficient to increase the per capita scholastic apportionment.

Ferguson Submits Name of Lillard As A. & M. Director

AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Governor Ferguson, in a message to the Senate Monday afternoon, announced the acceptance of the resignation of W. W. Witcher, district attorney of the Seventy-Second Judicial District Court, effective October 1. Witcher was one of the appointees held up when the long list of the judiciary was considered by the Senate last week.

Witcher told the committee on Nominations that he would not be able to attend the hearing set last week and would not be able to get here before Friday. The committee was to have its hearing today.

The acceptance of Witcher's resignation does not withdraw his name from the list of confirmation and it is still before the committee.

In the same message, the Governor submitted the following names for confirmation: G. N. Holton, member of the State Insurance Commission; Dr. Ralph Bailey and Dr. J. R. Frobose, members of the State Board of Health; Richard F. Burgess, Librarian and Historical Commission; Mrs. John A. Haley, member of the board of directors of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station; S. A. Lillard Jr., member of the Texas A. & M. board, and the following members of the Texas rate-making board: Eli Marks, E. C. Brand, W. D. Hood, D. C. Giddings and R. L. Thornton.

The names of the seven appointive members of the State Textbook Commission were not submitted. Today will be the last day nominations can be made under the Constitution.

COTTON CO-OP ASKS FOR LOW FREIGHT RATES

SEVEN STATES FILE COMPLAINTS WITH INTERSTATE COMMERCE COMMISSION

Rates Excessive

BODY ASKED TO INVESTIGATE GENERAL COTTON RATE STRUCTURE

(By Associated Press). WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—Cotton Growers' Co-operative organizations of seven southern states filed today with Interstate Commerce Commission identical complaints against railroad rates on cotton to principal marketing and exporting centers. Rates are described and all attacked as excessive, unjust and unreasonable. The commission was asked to consider general cotton rate structure and to make such changes as its investigation might determine to be desirable.

Only College Bred Hogs Are Favored By Houston County

(By Associated Press). CROCKETT, Sept. 22.—If a hog is not college bred the Crockett Chamber of Commerce looks upon him with considerable disfavor, not because the hog "hol polol" is what he is, but because his weight, general proportions and contour do not keep step with cultural processes in pork even with an equal opportunity.

So to spread its faith in better pork, the Chamber has purchased 30 registered brood sows from the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College and has distributed them in three colonies among Houston county farmers who have agreed to pay them this fall at their cost price of $50 each.

METHODISTS TO BUY NEW HOME

The Methodist church will purchase the C. A. Felker home, owned by A. and M. College, for a parsonage, it was decided Tuesday night at the Men's Brotherhood meeting.

The present parsonage will be converted into Sunday School rooms to accommodate the many large classes, stated Oak McKenzie, county attorney.

MISS LOCKE RECUPERATING

The many friends of Miss Allie Locke will rejoice to learn that she has sufficiently recovered from her recent operation for appendicitis to be removed this morning from the hospital to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Locke in the northern part of the city.

PROCLAMATION

Many people are crippled or burned to death and many thousands of dollars worth of property goes up each year in flames in Texas.

In the City of Bryan alone the losses due to fires has reached almost one hundred thousand dollars.

It has been found that at least 85% of all fires are due to carelessness and ignorance of what constitutes a fire hazard, and it is the purpose of Fire Prevention Week to bring home these facts to the public, to impress the seriousness of our tremendous fire loss record, and to urge caution and carefulness about fire. Your especial attention is called to weeds and trash around the premises. Please clean up all this as it is dangerous.

THEREFORE, I, Tyler Haswell, Mayor of the City of Bryan, to the end that needless destruction of life and property may be reduced, do hereby proclaim October 3rd to 9th, A. D. 1926, FIRE PREVENTION WEEK in the city, and do hereby call upon all our citizens to observe the occasion by clearing the city of fire hazards.

And that more good may be accomplished, I urge that the Woman's Clubs, Fire Insurance Agents, Chamber of Commerce, Lions Club, Rotary Club, School officials and teachers, Ministers of the Gospel and Sunday School Superintendents, Boy Scouts, Civic and fraternal orders all of which are interested and concerned about the welfare of the community, contribute their time during FIRE PREVENTION WEEK toward bettering our condition and helping to stamp out this awful fire waste.

In testimony whereof, I set my hand this the 22nd day of September A. D. 1926.

TYLER HASWELL, Mayor, City of Bryan, Texas.

PRESIDENT SAYS WHEN A BOY ALWAYS WANTED TO KEEP STORE

Best Way for Woman Who Expects To Enter Politics Is To Get Married and Rear a Family—Coolidge Doubts If a Boy Can Choose a Political Career.

(By Associated Press). WASHINGTON, Sept. 22.—On the last day in the eastern woods, President Coolidge answered informally questions asked by his personal friend, Bruce Barton, and later consented to be quoted by Bruce Barton, copyrighted by the Associated Press, 1926, answering questions which the President was told would be asked him by the people. President Coolidge said he had not visited many places because it was impossible to spend much time away from Washington. He said he went to Plymouth, Vermont, "whenever I can so as to refresh my knowledge of how ordinary people in this country live". He said he did this so he could keep in mind how people meet their bills out of ordinary incomes. The President said as a boy "as I now recall it I had always rather hoped I might keep a store when I grew up". It never occurred to that him he would be President. "I think there is a better chance for boys to succeed now than there ever was before," he said. "If a girl wishes to fit herself for a political career I think the best thing that she can do is to get married and bring up a family." The President declared he doubted if it is possible for a young man to choose politics as a career.

Bryan Good Business Town Says W. Bradley

"Bryan is one of the best business towns in Texas, of its size, and it is getting better every year," stated Wilson Bradley, prominent local merchant, yesterday.

Mr. Bradley has been in Bryan more than 20 years and for the past three years he has been the sole owner of the Wilson Bradley firm. Despite the drought, the books show that he did a better business in 1925 than in 1924, and this year will eclipse the other two years.

Mr. and Mrs. Chaney Entertain Teachers

Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Chaney, superintendent of the College Station Consolidated School, gave one of the most delightful and elaborate social functions of the season Tuesday afternoon when they entertained at their home in honor of the teachers.

An elaborate two-course luncheon was served the guests.

Pensacola Storm Toll Is $2,000,000

(By Associated Press). MOBILE, Ala., Sept. 22.—Thirty-five airplanes at Pensacola Navy Station were lost in storm that isolated Pensacola more than 24 hours. ROTARY CLUB TO GIVE $50 TO SUFFERERS

Dr. Taubenhaus Says Wild Flowers Best Developers Of Texas Root Rot

(By Associated Press). COLLEGE STATION, Sept. 22.—Wild flowers are the best developers of the fungus known as Texas root rot, Dr. J. J. Taubenhau, Texas A. and M. College, said in address before the ninth annual convention of the Southwestern Nurserymen's Association here. If Texas can be made a state of lawns and pastures, cotton growers troubled with cotton root rot will be much better off, the speaker thought.

Dr. Taubenhau pointed out that Texas has more wild flowers perennials than any other State in the Union. The root rot will not grow on grasses, he said, and more grasses in Texas would be beneficial in helping control the disease.

That the disease is known as Texas root rot should not be disturbing to Texas pride, he urged. The more that is known about the disease, and the more widespread information concerning its control, the better he said. Plant diseases known as New York cancer and Illinois cancer because they are indigenous to those States are far less desirable than Texas root rot, he added.

The opening session of the convention was largely technical in his discussions.

Highway Board Order Will Be Investigated

AUSTIN, Sept. 22.—Assistant Attorney General Earnest May at the request of Senator A. E. Wood of Williamson county will investigate the action of the State Highway Department Sept. 14 in authorizing the Old River Construction Company to do certain road improvement work in Waller county. Wood contends the order was a contract and said the question arises as to whether bids had been advertised for before action was taken. He called attention to the law requiring that contracts can not be let only on competitive bidding.

Senator Wood has submitted to the Attorney General's Department data obtained by him from the Highway department.

Hawaiian grass skirts are now popular along the Pacific Coast, it is said. But we would caution bathers in Texas open ranches to beware of the grazing raiment.

The man who is ever ready and willing to contribute his best efforts to every local enterprise that means the betterment of his town and community is a real blessing to his town.

The Miami hurricane is a calamity, and the other people in other states join in extending sympathy. This is the worst calamity America has known in recent years and all should contribute to the Red Cross for the relief fund.

The only legitimate excuse we have for living is that we are helping and helpful to others. And any man or woman whose life does not conform to this rule is not living up to their privilege. The sin of selfishness is the most popular sin of all others.

Although some people may not realize the fact, Bryan is fortunate in having so many good merchants. Most of the business men here are merchants—not storekeepers. They take advantage of every opportunity to improve their businesses and to be of even greater service to their patrons.

Every farmer, or for that matter, very business man who attended a Short Course at A. and M. College, says he got more out of it than it cost him and is anxious to go again. There is hope for the man who admits that there is still something for him to learn. The fellow who takes the position that he knows it all, is hopeless.—Cameron Enterprise.

The Howell Fair Saturday deserves the commendation and cooperation of all the people of Brazos county. An individual who will sponsor such an encouragement to the farmers is indeed a good citizen. Fairs have done much in the past to inspire the farmers to growing quality products, living at home, and in increasing their standard of living.

"A citizen who is in favor of the enforcement of only the laws for which he has voted, and in the principle and wisdom of which he agrees, is not a law-abiding citizen of a democracy. He has something of the autocratic spirit. He is willing to govern, but not to be governed. He is not willing to play the game according to the rules of the game."—William Howard Taft.

"The success of farming in Brazos county in the future depends upon all big farms being cut up into small tracts and sold to home owners, which would mean more people, better schools, and better citizens," stated a good Brazos county farmer recently to the Eagle editor. In this statement he strikes the keynote to farm poverty. Big landlords constitute one of the worst enemies of Southern civilization. They shake the poor tenant, with the result that neither owner nor tiller profits. Furthermore, these landlords have boosted the price of our farming land too high—most of it is priced much higher than it is worth.

ENFORCING THE PROHIBITION LAW

Hon. W. C. Davis Monday charged the Brazos county grand jury to give all crime careful attention, and especially the violations of the prohibition law. A. and M. College and Allen Academy have recently opened, and he stated that it was of special importance to see that the bootleggers are driven from Bryan at this time.

Many of us are inclined to deal lightly with the enforcement of prohibition but it is a grave matter. A town that could not enforce prohibition would soon have its State schools taken away. There is no justification for this law not being rigidly enforced everywhere, and especially in a college town.

There is more bootleg liquor sold in Bryan and College Station than is apparent from the surface. Ask any A. and M. student who has been here for a year or two and he will tell you that the bootleggers of this section are far from being inactive. There is some whiskey sold but the beer business is especially good.

Judge Davis is to be commended for stressing the importance of enforcing the prohibition law, and every effort should be made to put the bootleggers in this section out of business.

It is good to see in the manufacture of others what we should avoid.—Syria.

The eyes of Texas oil experts are turned toward Bryan and Brazos county, looking to the discovery of one of the biggest oil fields in Texas. Here is hoping they are not disappointed.

It is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all. Better because in every loss we gain something, if it is nothing but experience and spiritual stature, while inaction means stagnation, which ultimately means decay.

The price of cotton continues to decline as reports indicate a larger yield than expected a month ago. Farmers of Brazos county should make every effort to gather and market their crop immediately. With a big crop and a heavy carry-over from last year, the price may decline even further.

Our young friend, Moulton (Ty) Cobb, formerly of the Cameron Enterprise, has accepted a position as city editor of the Bryan Daily Eagle. Mr. Cobb is one of the most promising young journalists of the day and we speak for him still greater honors in his larger field.—Franklin Texas.

Alvin M. Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, has announced his candidacy for United States Senator against Earle B. Mayfield in 1928. It may be good politics, but it seems to us that it is unwise for a candidate to start out so soon. His candidacy may lose its momentum before July of 1928. We hope the Texas war hero will not prove to be another Admiral Dewey in politics.

Many of Bryan's tourists have returned home in the past few weeks but some of them are not due home until October 1. The American people travel much more than they did ten years ago, and a summer's vacation has become a necessity rather than a luxury for only the capitalists and school teachers. We need to travel even more than we do. It has been truthfully said that if the people of every nation would travel extensively they would understand one another and there would be no more wars.

The Mid-Texas Press Association organized at Brownwood, selected H. F. Mayes of the Brownwood Bulletin as president; R. L. Scott of De Leon Free Press, first vice president; R. E. Bradley, Lometa Reporter, second vice president; H. M. Jones, Brownwood, secretary-treasurer. This is a splendid group of officers, and we predict for the organization a success under their leadership. The newspaper men and women of Texas appreciate the honor conferred on these our friends. To head any newspaper organization is an honor. This is an honor worthy bestowed and we know will be worthily won.

FLOWERS FOR THE LIVING

Moulton Cobb left last Sunday for Bryan, where he is city editor of the Bryan Daily Eagle, of which Mrs. Lee J. Rountree is publisher and manager.

The Eagle is a prosperous newspaper and stands high among the Texas afternoon dailies. Mr. Cobb is a graduate of the Texas University in both the regular course and in journalism. He was editor-in-chief of the Daily Texan, the University newspaper in 1925.—Cameron Enterprise.

EDITORS NOTE:—Moulton is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Cobb of Cameron, but will be remembered as a Smithville boy, his father having been formerly the publisher of the Smithville Times. It was on this paper Moulton first learned to set a stick of type and to bring in his news stories.

During the past two years he has been lifting a part of the heavy burden of newspaper work from his father's shoulders, but is now setting out for himself.

We wish for our young friend every possible success and feel that Bryan people will be well satisfied with their home town paper.—Smithville Times.

WHAT IS A GUARANTEE

What is a guarantee? Webster says it is "that which is given by way of surety."

The home merchant, when he guarantees an article he sells, stands surety for that article. If the article does not give satisfaction the buyer can go to him and later claim the surety. It is in his interest to make his guarantee good. When he tells you he guarantees an article, that means something.

Consider the peddler. Here today, gone tomorrow; what is his guarantee worth? True, he will often give you a written guarantee, but did you ever try to collect on one such. In most cases that kind of a guarantee is guarded by so many provisions as to be practically worthless. And the peddler's verbal guarantee! What does it mean? Where will he be when the article he sells you fails to live up to his guarantee? With whom will you deal to get action? It is better to buy your merchandise at home, where you are dealing with home people to whom you can appeal in person, if necessary.

A town that is good enough to live in is good enough to trade in.—Rockdale Reporter.

A. AND M. NOW AND THEN

When registration is completed for the fall term at Agricultural and Mechanical College it is expected that 2,500 students will be enrolled for the various courses offered there. Fifty years ago, when the institution first threw open its doors, on Oct. 4, 1878, after many discouraging delays, about fifty students were on hand, although the enrollment for the session of 1876-77 finally reached slightly more than 100. The next year so many applied for admission that the college's modest facilities were overtaxed. That has been an almost chronic condition ever since, so eager are the youth of Texas to take advantage of the training offered at that excellent institution.

The increase in student enrollment does not, of course, tell the whole story of the expansion undergone by A. and M. Through the extension department, the experimental stations and other extramural activities, the college extends its service to the people. Where the original faculty numbered eight, including the surgeon and the steward, hundreds of specialists are now working either at the college or in direct affiliation with it.

The value of A. and M. College to Texas during the fifty years of its existence would be impossible to exaggerate. Its students have set the pace for progressive agriculture; from the engineering department men have gone out to build railroads, skyscrapers and industrial plants; in many lines of endeavor A. and M. alumni have done and are doing useful work. Throughout the years the college has held a position of vigorous leadership in the life of a great and growing state. Its future usefulness will be determined, as it has been in the past, by the people themselves, acting through their legislators.—Galveston News.

MENTAL LAZINESS

It has been said that for every one person who is lazy physically, there are ten persons who are lazy mentally.

The American people as a rule are energetic and do not object to exercising their physical faculties, but few of us have the energy to exercise our mental faculties. We display our mental laziness especially when we talk and it is particularly noticeable in a public speaker. Lawyers and preachers often use such trite and worn out expressions as "smart as a whip," "runs like sixty," "knee high to a duck," "all that sort of thing," "pure as gold," "fine as silk," "pretty as a peach" and many other phrases familiar to us all.

The reason that writers and speakers use these old-time phrases is that they are too lazy mentally to devise other phrases and expressions that will express what they have to say. By using these shopworn phrases the audience will understand what the speaker intends to convey, and at the same time he will not have to tax his mind one bit more than necessary. This practice is known as the "line of least resistance."

The habit of following the line of least resistance in our talking and writing soon permeates all other mental efforts and we become dull and stupid. As a result of this common practice, a sage once exclaimed: "Oh, if we had only some thinkers in this world." There have always been many persons who would work their muscles, but few who would work their minds.

The reason that most of the people in Bryan and everywhere else are not further along is because they are too lazy mentally. They have enough ability to get to the top in life, but they do not have the mental energy. Any good teacher will tell you that it is the hardest thing in the world to make a boy or girl think. It requires much more "axle grease" to work the mind than to work the arm.

TAKE THE SCHOOLS OUT OF POLITICS

There is other than political interest in the welfare of our public schools. Naturally, politicians have proclaimed their great concern regarding the lack of opportunity given rural children to secure an education. No doubt many of them were really in earnest about the matter, but none of them, during the summer campaigns, offered a solution of any of the school problems, and most of them who were successful at the polls will forget all about the subject until it is again time to go before the people and appeal for votes.

Just because the campaign is over is no reason to believe that interest in the proper development of our public school system has died out. Far from it. There are potent forces at work. There are organizations making a close study of the needs of our schools. There are individuals, men and women, giving their time and best thought to reorganization plans, and eventually something constructive will be proposed and the Legislature asked to act. The Texas State Teachers Association is very active in presenting conditions to the people in order that they may more fully realize the necessity for a better system and a more active support. In this work, Farm and Ranch is actively co-operating, and the columns of the paper are always open for short and constructive discussions of the subject. It is generally conceded that under the present system of schools the children in rural districts do not get value received for the money expended. It is true that more money is needed, but, with a better organization, every dollar expended would bring greater returns.

It is the hope of Farm and Ranch that every member of the Legislature will attend the next session with an open mind on the subject of schools and will consider it, not from a political, but from a patriotic standpoint; that the schools will cease to be a political football, and that steps will be taken to remove county superintendents and other school officials from the political arena by making their office appointive and not elective. City superintendents of schools are appointed by the Board of Education. They are not restricted in their selection, but oftentimes select a man from some other city or State. When such selection proves satisfactory no change is made for a number of years. The city superintendent has the opportunity to study the needs of the schools in his charge and the time to build them into constructive and efficient institutions. No so with the county superintendent. He is elected for a two-year term. He may not be qualified for the position, but a good campaigner. He, by custom, can announce for a second term, and then must retire. Can we expect any county superintendent, no matter how well qualified, to build constructively under such conditions? Let us remove the schools and all that pertains thereto from political influence.—Farm and Ranch.

BRYAN WELL DOWN 450 FEET MANY VISITORS

PARADE OF PERSONS DRIVE OUT TO "LOOK OVER FIELD" SUNDAY AFTERNOON.

Sunday was evidently "visiters day" at the new oil well being drilled on Vick's place two miles south of Bryan, if the crowds present mean anything. All day long automobiles were parked around the well, and late in the afternoon, when the people of Bryan drove out to "look over the field", the place was crowded with spectators.

The average man and woman knows little about oil well drilling and oil well machinery, but all were impressed with the splendid equipment with which the work is being done in this test well. Two big boilers, heavy engine machinery, a giant derrick 112 feet high, looks like business.

The rotary drill was grinding steadily, and the oil besmeared drillers and helpers, were intent upon their work, with no "talk" for the inquisitive crowd. John C. Vick, when asked the question for the information that the well had reached a depth of 450 feet at noon on Sunday.

Bryan Lions Club Shoots Hot Line At Community Meet

The Bryan Lions' Club gave a sample program at the Steep Hollow Progressive Club Friday night. The entertainment consisted of singing, a classification talk on "Poultry", and joke telling by various members of the club that at times rivaled a vaudeville number.

Mr. Murray, president of the Steep Hollow Club, stated the purpose of the meeting and introduced President F. D. Fuller of the Lions, who talked on "Agriculture". After several songs led by the inspirational direction of "Rip" Erskine, Sam Hoyle was asked to take the chair and produce an entertainment.

Mr. Hoyle told a number of amusing stories that at times provoked laughter and at other times by his wit and humor he almost caused a riot. R. M. Sherwood showed his versatility by his humorous thrusts and then proceeded to make a speech on "Poultry" with "The Average Man" as his sub-theme. Others who contributed to the merriment of the occasion by their story-telling proclivities were Robert V. Armstrong, Larry Stephens, Jess E. Hensarling, Harry S. Edge, Willard Chambers, and Ty Cobb. The Steep Hollow citizens applauded the local talent vociferously.

Local High School Boys Make Good In Great Aggie Band

Members of the 1926 graduating class of the A. and M. Consolidated high school are "strutting their stuff" with the famous A. and M. Band.

These boys were under the supervision of Mrs. D. C. McIntosh, director of the school orchestra, last year.

"Our East Texas Chamber of Commerce is growing by leaps and bounds and I am very happy in my new work. Of course I miss my old 'crew'," writes J. E. Stanford, formerly district agent in the Extension Service of A. and M. College, but now assistant manager of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Stanford also writes: "I expect to continue my subscription to the local Chamber of Commerce as I still have property there that I expect to be benefited and enhanced in value through the activities of the Bryan and Brazos County Chamber of Commerce, hence I feel that I still should support the organization, although living elsewhere."

MAJOR L. L. McINNIS ATTENDS A. & M. COLLEGE OPENING 49TH TIME

Major L. L. McInnis, of the First National Bank, today attended the opening of A. and M. College for the forty-ninth time, in the fifty-one years of the College's existence. Major McInnis came to the College first as a professor and later served the College as chairman of the board, giving him the same authority as the president of today. No man connected with the institution has ever been more loyal. And today he chose the word "Loyalty" as his subject when he was introduced to the splendid student body by the president, Dr. T. O. Walton. "Loyalty to one's school is a form of patriotism," he said.

Bryan Boy Awarded Medal For Saving Life of a Friend

H. G. STALLINGS, JR., GIVEN
TROPHY AT FIRST METHO-DIST CHURCH SUNDAY.

H. G. Stallings, Jr., of Bryan, was presented with a Ralston Purina Hero Commission gold medal Sunday morning at the Methodist Sunday School for saving the life of young Hugh Thurman, on January 25, 1926. The presentation was made following an eloquent and fitting address by Hon. Oak McKenzie.

Young Stallings, who is only 9 years of age, was compared by Judge McKenzie to Sam Davis, immortal hero of the South. Stallings and Hugh Thurman were out hunting when the latter fell into a cess pool near the R. M. Nail home. Young Stallings laid down on the curb of the pool and with outstretched hands he caught hold of Thurman, pulling him out of the water. Stallings, with courage and presence of mind, risked his own life to save that of his friend.

In eulogizing the young Bryan hero, the speaker quoted the famous words of Sam Davis: "I would rather die a thousand deaths before I would betray a friend." The Judge then quoted: "Greater love hath no man than this—that a man lay down his life for his friend."

In comparing the heroism of Davis and Stallings, Judge McKenzie stated that on Davis' grave is the following inscription:

"He gave all he had—
Life
He gained all he lacked—
Immortality."

Mr. McKenzie highly commended the little hero for his wonderful courage and bravery, and congratulated his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Stallings, who occupied the front seat along with the boy, upon having such a distinguished son. The medal was first presented to the father and then to the son. The medal bears the inscription: "For service to Others."

An unusually large attendance was present to honor the young boy upon such an unusual occasion. Musical numbers were given by a quartette composed of Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Black, and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bryant. The pastor, Rev. H. H. McCain, read a newspaper clipping entitled, "Sam Davis, Immortal Hero." The article stated that "the mention of the name Sam Davis, boy-martyr of the South, brings a quickening to the heart and brightening to the eye of all who know his matchless history."

Texas Legion May Lose Its 'Old Gray Mare' Band Title

(By Associated Press)
STAMFORD, Sept. 21.—An appeal to Texans to save for Texas the famed "old gray mare" band has been sent out by the military affairs committee of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Texas is in danger of losing the renowned band by virtue of the Oklahoma American Legion's challenge to the Texas Legion. The challenge stipulates that the state which enrolls most members in the Legion by September 24 midnight will claim the right to take the old gray mare, band mascot, to the National Legion convention and will have official sponsorship of "the old gray mare" band.

Oklahoma now has a good lead over Texas in the contest, and the West Texas chamber of commerce says "unless Texas gets busy at once, the state will lose the band which has become famous throughout the world."

Considerable rivalry has been manifest between the two states over the right to the band, and the membership contest is regarded as the way to settle the question for good.

The chamber of commerce letter urges the chambers of each town to help the Legion posts and enlist aid of other civic organizations in getting some new members.

SERVICES FOR JOHN D. DALY HELD AT 9:30

WAS SON OF PIONEER SET-
TLERS OF BRYAN; FUNER-AL AT LOCAL CHURCH

(From Saturday's Daily)

At Saint Joseph's Catholic Church at 9:30 o'clock this morning was held the funeral service of the late John D. Daly, whose death occurred at the family home on East 24th street, this city, Friday, September 17th at 3 p. m. The service at the home at 9:15 a. m. and also at the church at 9:30 o'clock were conducted by Rev. B. Bravi, assisted by Rev. Peter Litwora. Interment followed in the family lot in Bryan City Cemetery, in charge of McCulloch-Gordon Co., funeral directors.

John Douglas Daly was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Daly of this city and was born January 8, 1884, in Bryan and grew to manhood here. For the past five years he had made his home in Galveston, where he held the position of Income Tax Collector, but he still called Bryan home, and his friends here were also glad when he returned for a visit with them. During his residence in Bryan, John Daly was a loyal and efficient member of the local fire department and his service to Bryan was ever vital and faithful.

As a friend and neighbor, he endeared himself to all who knew him, and his passing has brought sorrow to the entire city and community.

He had been in ill health for the past several weeks, and only last Sunday came to Bryan to stay for a while and recuperate. On Tuesday he took his bed, and the end came, even more quickly than was thought, and he passed away as quietly as a little child falling asleep.

Nineteen years ago, John D. Daly was married to Miss Theresa Elbert of Galveston, and to their union were born three splendid sons, who, with the widow survive to mourn his loss, as follows: John D. Daly Jr., Elbert, and Douglas, all of whom were with him when death came. He is also survived by one brother, Tom D. Daly, of this city, and two sisters, Miss Katie Daly of Bryan and Mrs. Jack Gandy of Houston.

Pall bearers at the funeral were: Honorary: Tyler Haswell, John M. Lawrence Sr., M. B. Parker, A. J. Buchanan, H. O. Boatwright, C. E. Jenkins, H. B. McDowell, and W. H. Holzman. Active: Joe Howard, L. E. Warren, M. F. Vitopil, Morris Tatum, Powell Winter, Walter Wiprecht.

COMING TO BRYAN CAUSES SAILS EVANS' SAILOR OVER FENCE

GOVERNOR-ELECT FEEL FRISKY

When Dan Moody, Governor-Elect of Texas, came to Bryan in August to speak during the runoff primary, his joy over coming to the capital of Brazos county made him feel so exuberant that at Hearne he forgot that a candidate for the highest office in the State should be dignified and staid, and indulged in boyish horseplay with a reporter, according to an article by Walter Honaday in Sunday's feature section of The Dallas News.

The article deals with traveling over Texas with Dan Moody and gives a graphic close-up of the humaneness and good nature of the new governor. The day of the Bryan speaking, Dan had traveled from Troup to Hearne on the I-G. N. and in the party was a "chubby" reporter. Although the article does not mention the name, this "chubby" reporter was none other than Stillman Evans of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Mr. Evans was growing a mustache and Dan continuously chided him about it, stating that he was going to pull out some of his glory.

When the party alighted from the train at Hearne, Dan grabbed Evans' straw hat and sailed it over a fence into a field. Evans then caught Moody, took his hat and threw it into the corn patch, too. Then both governor and reporter had to ascend the fence for their hats. This was done near the train and the passengers applauded.

At the hotel in Hearne Dan ate nearly all of the black-eyed peas on the place, and told the landlady they were the best he ever had enjoyed. She promised to have an enormous supply for him when he came to Hearne again.

From there he came to Bryan, where he spoke in the afternoon. That night he delivered an address in Cameron.

EBERSTADT OFF TO WORTHAM TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Secretary S. E. Eberstadt of the Bryan Chamber of Commerce left here at noon today for Wortham, where he will make two addresses on Chamber of Commerce work.

When he arrives there on the train, he will be met by a delegation of fifty business men. He will tell these men some of the high points of his work here. Tonight he will address a mass meeting of citizens on the value and details of a chamber of commerce, and following his address a club will be organized there.

Mr. Eberstadt will return to Bryan Wednesday.

 WITH C. G. WALKER AND FAMILY AT MIAMI, FLORIDA *****

"All safe. Plenty of food and water. Thousands are dead," was the text of a telegram received in Bryan this afternoon by Mrs. C. G. Walker, who is here on a visit to her mother, from her husband, C. G. Walker. The message was dated Miami, Florida, Sept. 20, 5 p. m. This will be grateful news to the many friends of Mr. Walker here in Bryan and Brazos county who have been anxious about his safety.

Those leaving Sunday for the College of Industrial Arts at Denton were: Misses Susie Mae Sanders, Nellie Eden, Alta Williams, and Lucile Hensarling. Miss Geraldine Grout will leave College Station Monday and Lalla Dean Randolph left Saturday.

WASTE PATCHES OF LAND IN CITY LIMITS YIELDS FINE CROP OF COTTON

C. L. McCoy, who has won a reputation by cultivating the waste patches of land in the city limits of Bryan for the past two years, is scoring another success this year. He has already gathered 8 bales of cotton and have about 15 more to gather. Each of these bales have averaged 600 pounds, and the staple good, bringing top-notch prices.

City Is Unable to Finance New White Way Here

M. F. Dansby, a local citizen, last night at a meeting of the City Commission, offered to finance the erection of the White Way along Bryan Avenue, provided that he could be reimbursed by the city on January 1. After discussing the proposition thoroughly, it was decided to reject this offer on account of the labor shortage and the further fact that the money would be unnecessary as the equipment would not arrive here before December 1. It was the sentiment of the commission that this white way would be erected as soon as possible.

Necessary plumbing for the negro school was ordered installed immediately. The number of blocks 10 and 11 in the city cemetery was authorized. The transfer of the lease on the opera house to the Texas Amusement Company, composed of C. A. Schulman and Morris Schulman, was approved. The auditor's report of the city's books was accepted and the bill ordered paid.

All members of the city commission were present.

Reading of the codification of the city's ordinances was begun.

Bryan Receives 7159 Bales Cotton

Bryan has received 7,159 bales of cotton, according to a check of local warehouses and gins, as follows: Farmers' Union Warehouse, 3,630; Edens 515 round bales and 12 square bales (round bales count as half); Lawrence Warehouse, 2,960.

This record is far ahead of the 1925 yield.

Leon Wilcox of Tabor is a member of the senior class at A. and M. College for the year 1926-1927 and is making his home in Bryan with his aunt, Mrs. A. W. Buchanan and family.

A. Henslee was in Bryan today from his farm home near Milliken in the southern part of the county.

DURING

SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 25

While in town for the Fair Saturday, bring your cotton to our gin and have it made into Round Bales.

Since the farmers have been compelled to go to the extra expense to kill the boll worms and leaf worms and since the price is a little low, it is imperative that the farmers get all that is possible from their cotton.

The way to receive the most for your cotton is to have it ginned at the Eden Gin Company, and made into

Constitutional Day Observed By Bryan Lions Clubs On Tuesday— Program Broadcast Over the Radio

An appreciative crowd of Lions and visitors enjoyed the program put on by the Lions yesterday in honor of the 139th anniversary of the signing of the Constitution of the United States. The entire week has been set aside by the Lions in celebration of this day which falls on September 17th, and the Tuesday meeting being the nearest meeting to this date an extensive program was arranged and due to the courtesy of the Bryan Telephone Co., William Tison, Radio Operator at College, A. B. Johnston, W. H. Darrow and others the program was broadcast over Station WTAW.

After luncheon, promptly at 12:45 the program was opened by the singing of "America" after which the Lions joined in singing two Lion songs. Lion President Fuller then made a few appropriate introductory remarks and turned the program over to S. C. Hoyle, chairman of the Entertainment committee, who announced that he had asked Dr. C. A. Searcy to conduct the exercises.

H. S. Rogers then sang "Sweet Little Mother of Mine," by Burleigh, after which Dr. Searcy introduced Chas. H. Alvord, Director of Extension Service who spoke concerning the events leading up to and including the signing of the Constitution.

The next number was the singing of "Sweet Little Woman of Mine," by Mrs. D. S. Buchanan which was followed by an address by Dean Chas. E. Friley, dealing with the amendments to the Constitution.

Each number on the program was greeted by vociferous applause and all expressed themselves as well pleased with the singing and addresses. In fact the speakers brought information concerning historical events which were interesting and valuable to the thinking mind, while the two soloists, Mr. Rogers and Mrs. Buchanan, are considered among the best in South Texas.

Lion President Fuller, Lion Hensarling, Lion Erskine and Mrs. Roy Danforth, the pianist, were the main springs in the Lion singing and did much toward the success of the occasion while the masterly manner in which Lion Searcy handled the situation demonstrated his ability in handling programs.

W. S. Howell was a visitor and made an interesting talk about the Howell Lumber Company Free Agricultural Fair and invited all to participate and contribute their efforts toward the success of the event.

Those present were: Chas. H. Alvord, W. S. Howell, M. F. Vitopil, Thos. G. Watts, L. L. Stephens, Geo. W. Griner, W. E. Neeley, R. V. Armstrong, A. B. Johnston, Lamar Jones, J. Bryan Miller, Tom G. Club Notes and Farm News by County Agent C. L. Beason

Offering Farms for Sale.

Some of the leading farmers with large holdings are placing their lands on the market, evidently thinking other business, or no business at all, would be better than the present hazards of agriculture. We do not mean to question the wisdom of such moves, but we do think it is unfortunate for a man whose training has been on the farm to have to turn, because of unsatisfactory conditions, to other business for which there has been no special training. We yet contend, however, that agriculture is the basic industry and must be made to carry on, if civilization itself is to survive. There are, of course, re-adjustments to be made before the educational, social and economic conditions of the farm are to become satisfactory, but that day is sure to come and the ownership of farm land, properly managed, will prove a good investment to the man with courage and vision.

Using Crop Rotation.

J. J. Holik of the Smetana community, is carrying on a crop rotation plan on his farm, results already demonstrating the wisdom of his course. A portion of his land is sown to cow peas to be turned under. He alternates his corn with a row of peas, this corn land to be planted to cotton, which is fertilized. Mr. Holik is also trying out Laredo soy beans as a substitute for cow peas to improve soil fertility by the addition of nitrogen and humus. The soy beans, planted side by side with the cow peas, are more than waist high while the peas are not more than a foot high and of poor foliage. Mr. Holik's yields, following the rotation, are twice as much as on land where no rotation is followed. He is also sold on Surcropper corn as being the most dependable for this section.

Protect Farmers From Fakes.

Cotton seed peddlers, salesmen of various and sundry stock—sulphur, oil, rubber, etc.—always flock to the county when there is prospect of a good crop, and seek to put over sales with farmers who chance to have a little surplus cash. The Bryan Chamber of Commerce has a plan by which the business men of Bryan are protected from fake schemes. Why could not the plan be extended so as to protect the farmer? Think it over.

Club Prospects Good.

With the better organization among the clubs of the county, the boys and girls of old Brazos may be expected to set a new pace in club work during 1927. We are expecting the Lions Club and the Rotary Club to get behind this movement in "dead earnest".

Put Cards On Table.

On last Saturday one farmer, calling on the County Agent, was boasting about selling his half-and-half cotton on the local market for as much as his neighbors were getting for other varieties. No sooner had the first farmer gone till another appeared, complaining that he could not sell his cotton at all, because the buyers claimed it was half-and-half. What is the trouble, any way? Is there a difference in the value of the several varieties grown? Is each farmer made to know that there is a difference because of the price he receives? Or is it all a lot of "bunk"? If business man and farmer could just lay on the table the cards—face up—of the game they desire to play, what a wonderful old world this would be. Equity and right, one to the other, should obtain in every dealing with our fellow man.

Farmers Inconsistent.

We farmers are a strange sort of fellows, when it comes to the matter of consistency. We are too prone to be stalking around the graveyard, so to speak, instead of looking up at the stars, a region talking about; due in part to that other group of bankers who failed to co-operate with the group fostering a "Safe Farming" program, but forced the farmer to increase his cotton acreage before he could obtain money to make a crop on. Now that disaster stares both farmer and business man square in the face, who is going to own the "child"?

Co-Operate With Fair.

All will admit that it is a busy time, but all interested in a better agriculture, whether we are farmers or business men, should lend encouragement to the fair being sponsored by the Howell Lumber Company. If it is to benefit agriculture, and agriculture is to help your business, then you should show an interest in the fair? How many Bryan business men attended the fair last year? Echo returns, "How many?"

This is fair week in Brazos! Tabor Thursday, Howell Lumber Company, Saturday.

Mrs. Knox P. Williams and son, Knox Jr., of Millican have moved into Bryan to reside during the school year, and are making their home with Mr. and Mrs. C. Egbert Jones.

Mrs. Allen Varner of Gause is visiting in Bryan with her niece, Mrs. Tom E. Evans.

Florida storm-swept area. This action was featured by a debate between Oak McKenzie and Curtis Beason upon the manner in which this money should be obtained. Mr. Beason, through an impassioned emotional appeal, brought the crowd to cheers.

M. E. Wallace, making a classification talk, stated that there is a good "chance for an oil field in Bryan." Several wells have been drilled in this section, but formerly the locations were selected upon a hunch instead of upon scientific survey. He declared that the oil industry in Texas ranked next to agriculture in importance, and pictured the value of an oil field to the people of Bryan.

Smokes Are Passed.

Mr. Wallace, who was in charge of the program, called upon each member to prepare a two-minute joke. He originally intended to offer a box of cigars to the member who told the best story, but since there was not enough time to get around to all of the members, he decided to pass the cigars to the crowd.

Dr. E. P. Humbert of the A. & M. College, who is president of the organization, presided over the meeting.

The following members and visitors were present: Ike Ashburn, Geo. A. Adams, T. A. Adams, W. S. Barron, C. L. Beason, C. S. Beckwith, S. Moylan Bird, Jno. W. Black, Wilson Bradley, J. F. Casey, J.
